- The use-case diagram was finalized. With a few changes it was submitted.

- The front-end design was also approved. Mr. Ashutosh designed the basic front-end.

- Moreover we discussed solutions to a few questions such as:-

  Does the solution conform to the plan? Is source code traceable to the design model?

  Is each component part of the solution provably correct?

  Is it possible to test each component part of the solution?

  Does the solution produce results that conform to the data, functions, and features that are required?

- Thus, this questions were a subset of the major problem "Carry Out The Plan" and "Examine The Result" in "The Essence of Practice" as suggested by Polya.
